Purpose of the proposal and its anticipated effects, including any changes in existing rules: Amending the rules (chapter 208-620 WAC) under the Consumer Loan Act (chapter 31.04 RCW) to implement amendments (SB 5077, Ch. 15, Laws of 2021) which provides authority, under certain circumstances, for licensed companies to allow licensed mortgage loan originators to work from their residences without the company licensing the residence as a branch office. Additionally, technical changes will be made for clarity and consistency.

Reasons supporting proposal: The statutory change acknowledged the fact that technology advancements have greatly changed the way in which mortgage loan originators engage in business, with most work being completed digitally and through secure origination systems.

Statutory authority for adoption: RCW 43.320.040 and RCW 31.04.165

Statute being implemented: Chapter 31.04 RCW

(3) Small business economic impact statement: Complete this section if any portion is not exempt.

If any portion of the proposed rule is not exempt, does it impose more-than-minor costs (as defined by RCW 19.85.020(2)) on businesses?

No Briefly summarize the agency’s minor cost analysis and how the agency determined the proposed rule did not impose more-than-minor costs. The majority of changes in the rule actually save licensees money as it removes the requirement for companies to pay $106.71 yearly to license or renew a branch office for each mortgage loan originator that worked from the loan originator’s residence. The new section that was added to the rules does not impose any new requirements on licensees and therefore did not impose any costs. Licensees were already required to have certain policies and procedures and comply with specific federal laws. Lastly, all other changes did not impose a cost on licensees.

Yes Calculations show the rule proposal likely imposes more-than-minor cost to businesses and a small business economic impact statement is required. Insert the required small business economic impact statement here:
